Daryl was born in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan on August 5, 1954 to Gute and Dorothy Enockson. Daryl had a great childhood and very supportive parents. In his younger years, Daryl was very athletic and played hockey and baseball. He spent his formative years in Saskatoon and Alpine, Manitoba. At the young age of 15, Darryl began to work in the drywall trade where he made his career for the next 52 years. Daryl was a craftsman and excelled in his trade, he was highly regarded for his quality work. He was someone who was passionate about good service, which allowed Daryl to become close with many of his customers and coworkers. He had long lasting relationships throughout his career. At 19 years of age Daryl was united in Matrimony to his first wife and was blessed with two children; Scott and Shannon. In 1979, Daryl met Cyndy Exner. After a year of friendship, they became a couple; uniting in Matrimony in 1983. In 1983 Daryl and Cyndy moved to Yorkton, Saskatchewan. In the following years Daryl divided his time between drywalling and trapping. Daryl learned to trap from his father, Gute and uncle, Ivor. He loved trapping on the family trapline in Duck Mountain. He spent 13 years as Director for the Manitoba Trappers Association and worked on many initiatives for habitat sustainability. Daryl found spirituality in nature when on the trapline, and is where he felt a connection to the world. Daryl was always generous in sharing his love for nature by hosting many friends and family at his cabin at Duck Mountain. There was always an open invitation to come trapping with Daryl. In 1988, Cyndy and Daryl were blessed with the birth of Ryan. Daryl was so very proud of each of his children; they were his greatest blessing and meant everything to him.
